Eichmann's Attorney Challenges Legality of Trial

ADOLF EICHMANN

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann, standing stiff-backed and impassive in the bulletproof prisoner's dock of a Jerusalem court today, heard himself described as the arch-persecutor of the Jews during World War II.

It was the first time in 2,000 years that a man accused of inflicting suffering and death on the Jews was brought to judgment in a Jewish court.

The atmosphere was electric with drama—even during the 70 minutes when the indictment, itemizing Eichmann's alleged crimes—was being read by the president of the court, Supreme Court Justice Moshe Landau.

Legal arguments broke out immediately after the reading of the 27-page, 15-count indictment.

Eichmann's chief counsel, pudgy, gray-haired Dr. Robert Servatius of West Germany, challenged the jurisdiction of the special court trying him in Israel, the Israeli law of 1950 under which Eichmann is being tried, and the circumstances in which he was spirited from Argentina to Israel last May.

Israel's attorney general, Gideon Hausner, disputed Servatius' argument.

Israel accuses Eichmann of "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity." The indictment asserts that he bears direct responsibility for the slaying of millions of Jews, that he caused others "degradation... deportation... deprivation... and inhuman torture and suffering."

Israel has abolished capital punishment except for crimes against humanity under the 1950 law. On 12 of the 15 counts against Eichmann, the maximum penalty is death.

Eichmann, as chief of the Jewish Affairs Section of the Nazi Gestapo during the war, is accused of direct responsibility for the catastrophe visited on the Jews.

He stood in the dock—shielded from the audience by sheets of bulletproof glass—stony-faced and motionless as a statue.

He was wearing dark gray business suit, a white shirt and a striped necktie that matched his suit. He peered once through the glass toward the audience, nodded once to Servatius and the lawyer's assistants.

Then he turned his head toward the three judges and appeared never to take his eyes off them.

The courtroom, in Jerusalem's community center, is a theater-like room with 746 seats. All of them were filled 20 minutes before the start of the trial today at 9:01 a.m. Most of the spectators were newsmen.

Concealed television cameras brought the proceedings to various points around the building by closed circuit, and to a theater a block away where 700 people watched. The trial is being conducted in Hebrew, Israel's official language, with simultaneous translation into English, French and German. Small transistor radios, tunable to all four languages, were used by the spectators.

Sitting with Justice Landau are Benjamin Halevy, president of the Jerusalem District Court, and Izhak Raveh, president of the Tel Aviv District Court.

The opposing attorneys and their assistants sit at a long table directly in front of the judge's bench.

As the trial opened, Landau ordered Eichmann to rise and asked him if he was "Adolf Eichmann, son of Karl Adolf Eichmann."

"Ja wohl," the defendant replied, his voice steady and deep over the public address system.

Landau then began reading the massive indictment.

As he went along, Eichmann stood like a ramrod. His head was thrown slightly back, his square chin raised. Nothing showed in his face as the list of crimes with which he is charged was being read.

After each numbered section of the indictment was read in Hebrew, the translation into German was read in open court.

Eichmann continued to stare at the bench. His thin lips were pressed tightly together, giving him a slightly petulant look.

He is of medium size, slim, bespectacled and bald. His nose is large, slightly crooked, with a sharp tip.

As he stood in the dock, peering through his spectacles toward the judges, he could see on the wall behind him a bronze menorah, the ancient seven-armed Jewish candelabra that is part of the national emblem of Israel.

Correspondents came and went in relays during the reading of the indictment. With the translation into German, it took an hour and 10 minutes.

When he had finished, Landau asked Eichmann if he had understood. The prisoner indicated that he had.

"Tell him he may sit down," Landau said to the translator.

Eichmann took his seat, between two blue-uniformed Israeli policemen. He continued to look toward the bench.

At this point, Eichmann would have been asked for his plea—guilty or not guilty as charged in the indictment—but Servatius rose to challenge the legal basis of the trial.

Rep. Humphrey Collapses, Dies In Ohio House

Ashtabula County Republican Stricken Following Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Death claimed a veteran state lawmaker, Rep. Ralph L. Humphrey of Ashtabula County, at the close of a committee hearing in which he actively participated Monday night.

His is the second death of this session in the Ohio House of Representatives, following by only a few weeks that of Rep. Joseph E. Lady of Hardin County.

Both men were Republicans. The GOP edge in the House now is 82-55.

Members of the House Committee on Industry and Labor were preparing to leave their hearing room in the Statehouse when Humphrey was stricken. Emergency squadmen rushed him to Grant Hospital in Columbus, where he was pronounced dead.

The cause of death was not immediately announced.

His widow and two adult sons survive the 54-year-old legislator. One of his sons was in the insurance business with him in Ashtabula.

Humphrey came to the legislature in 1949 as a member of the House. He served again in the House during the 1951 legislature. In 1953 and 1955, he served in the Ohio Senate. He also was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress.

Rep. Ralph Rudd, D-Lake, said he and other members of the committee were standing around a long table in the hearing room when Humphrey collapsed. While Rudd loosened the stricken man's collar, others present summoned

E. Palestine Light Rate Is Revised

EAST PALESTINE — A minor revision in the electric light rate schedule was passed by City Council Monday night.

Small shops, like greenhouses, beauty shops and small repair shops, could qualify for residential rates if operated less than 20 hours a week.

Council authorized the purchase of a tract of land on E. Taggart St. as a site for the substation to be erected in connection with the light plant improvement project. The approximate one-half acre of land cost $1,000.

The report of the auditor for the month of March showed the auto license fund was overdrawn $9,157, which is a reflection of the heavy cost of snow removal and ashes during the winter. The City Park fund was also overdrawn $547.

A demonstration of new parking meters was presented, but no formal action was taken. The present meters were installed in 1949.

William McKay, Salem commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., reported the company is making a study of a proposed re-zoning of service in the area.

Bomb Rips Residence In Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A bomb, planted on the outside of the home of an automotive plant worker, early today ripped a hole in the basement wall.

The occupants, William F. Becker, his wife, and 17-year-old son, were asleep on the second floor of the dwelling in the southeast section of Warren. They were not hurt.

The blast was the second in the city in less than a month and the 70th unlesioned bombing in Mahoning Valley in the last 9½ years.

Becker and his wife are employed at the Packard Electric Division of General Motors Corp. here. They told police they had received threatening anonymous telephone calls the past two months but could give no reason for them.

Det. Capt. Vern Peeples had no immediate explanation or theory for the bombing. The explosion tore a one-foot hole in the cement wall, scattering debris throughout the basement.

Moscow Rumors Say Soviets Fired Man Into Space

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's officialdom is keeping a tight lip—to Western newsmen, at least—concerning widespread rumors that the Soviet Union has launched a man into space.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said late Monday night he had no information on reports Soviet scientists were expected momentarily to announce they had won the astronaut race.

"When there is such information," the spokesman said, "you will hear about it on the radio and see it in the newspapers."

Communist newsmen, who have news sources closer to top officials than do most Westerners, acted as if a big announcement was expected. They apparently had been advised to stay close to their radios and telephones.

A Soviet television crew set up a half-ton of equipment in front of the Central Telegraph Office, as if to film newsmen rushing to transmit an important story. But after two hours they packed up and left.

The Soviet Union, like the United States, has been training astronauts for more than two years. Recently the press has been full of articles about the problems of space flight.

TIRE, WHEEL STOLEN

De Gaulle Cites Obstructions To Peace Talks

Declares Algerian Rebels Incapable of Positive Action

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle expressed doubt today that Algeria's revolutionary leaders are capable of taking positive steps to negotiate peace.

De Gaulle told a news conference that France is prepared to talk with the Algerians about self-determination. He added he was "surprised that leaders of the rebellion have not up to now considered it possible to respond to invitations for peace talks."

"I recognize that it is difficult, that it is truly hard for an essentially insurrectional organization to take a constructive position," he continued.

"I recognize that it is difficult for them to take up, with the needed minimum of serenity, questions like that of peace, of organization of a state and economic development of a country."

French and the Algerian rebel attempts to open peace talks last week collapsed.

De Gaulle said that because the rebels have been unable to dominate the half-million-man French army in Algeria "one wonders if, after all, they are capable of moving toward positive action."

The French president, addressing 500 journalists in his ornate Elysee Palace, asserted that for the present France will continue to give Algeria a new political, economic and administrative structure "from top to bottom."

"Naturally," De Gaulle said, "we are in a hurry for peace so

2 Drivers Cited After 3 Crashes

Three drivers were cited following two traffic mishaps investigated by highway patrolmen Monday morning. No one was injured.

Two cars received considerable damage in a collision on Route 9, one and one-half miles north of Hanoverton, at 7:10 a.m.

Patrolmen said Orren Hykes, 43, of New Philadelphia, attempted to pass a truck with his northbound car just as a southbound car operated by Lloyd Gordon, 53, of 750 Highland Ave. came over the crest of a hill, causing a collision of the two cars on the west side of the highway.

Hykes was cited into court for reckless operation and Gordon for an expired driver's license.

Minor damage was caused to two cars involved in a mishap on Rt. 62, one-half mile east of Alliance, at 5:45 a.m.

Patrolmen said Frank F. Rupp, 22, of Maximino, attempted to turn his eastbound car north off the highway, causing the auto to be hit in the rear by a car being operated by Charles W. Ferree, 61, of Massillon.

Rupp was cited for unsafe operation.

Russians Increase Arms Aid to Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has "greatly increased" its airlift of arms and supplies to rebel forces in Laos in the last few days, official U.S. sources report.

These sources said Monday night they were unable to explain the stepped up activity but commented "it is not a positive response to the British request for a cease-fire."

In fact, American officials interpreted the accelerated airlift as more of a rebuff to the British proposal which carries U.S. backing. The proposal called for an immediate cease-fire followed by an international conference on the Laos crisis.

U.S. officials said an effort will be made to learn the exact "arithmetic" of the increased Soviet aid. They said, however, that there has been no increase in the flow of U.S. arms to the royal Lao army.

Reports reaching the State Department in the last few days have stressed that no large-scale fighting is under way in the tiny Asian kingdom.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk briefs the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today on the Laotian situation.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said the crisis in Laos is top on the agenda of a closed-door briefing Rusk will give the committee, his first since the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting in Bangkok.

"But I expect he will bring us up to date on the crisis in the Congo, the new threats in Viet Nam and other developments around the world," Sparkman, acting chairman, told a newsmen.

The State Department formally announced that Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos has been invited to visit the United States in a private capacity to discuss the Laotian situation with President Kennedy.

Canton Pair On Trial for Bank Holdups

Charged In Four Robberies Which Netted $81,994

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mike J. Koury was the brains of a gang that netted $81,994 in four northeastern Ohio bank robberies, a U.S. attorney told a jury in federal court.

William J. O'Neill, assistant U.S. attorney, told the jury Monday that testimony will show the holdups were plotted by Koury and other members of the gang in the Canton apartment of Miss Beverly Ruth Osborne.

Koury, 44, of Canton, and Miss Osborne, 27, are on trial on charges of participating in three of the armed robberies. The trial is being conducted in the court of U.S. District Judge James C. Connell.

The robberies were at the County Fair branch of the Citizens Savings & Loan Co. of Canton, Jan. 24, 1959, when $15,108 was taken the South Arlington branch of the Akron Savings & Loan Co., Akron, April 3, 1959, $6,976 and the Highland Park branch of the Commercial Banking & Trust Co. of Wooster, April 23, 1959, $41,510.

Frank Anzur of Youngstown was one of two gunmen who entered the three banks, O'Neill said. He said the other man was George Koussaie of Canton. Anzur is to appear as a witness in the trial.

Ralph W. Ross of Canton, defense attorney, told the jurors he would show that as a witness Anzur is "not worthy of your be-

Board Agrees to $300 Increases

The Salem Board of Education Monday night passed a resolution approving a recommendation for a raise of $300 in salaries for most teachers next year, contingent on the passage of the 4-mill levy at the May primaries.

The recommendation, presented by Superintendent Paul E. Smith, makes the following stipulations:

Based upon theoretical receipts it will be necessary to renew 2½ mills to pay off the $69,000 deficit and still continue 1962 operations at 1961 levels.

A safety factor of ½ mill should be maintained.

Salem Schools Not In Competitive Position

"Though our beginning salaries compare somewhat favorably with Columbiana County schools, we are now in no position to compete with the Northeast Ohio area for good college graduates who are prepared to teach," he said.

He went on to say that "Young people with families are finding it difficult to live on such salaries. We are in danger of losing several of our good teachers to metropolitan areas where the salary schedules are more attractive. To avoid this drain, serious consideration should be given to salary adjustment as of January 1, 1962."

Supt. Smith revealed figures from a survey of teacher's salaries in schools in Ohio cities with 5,000 or more population compiled by the superintendent of Marion schools. The number of cities reporting and Salem's relative positions are as follows:

Teachers with two years training, 117 cities reporting, Salem ranked 115; three years training, 121 cities reporting, Salem 119; teachers with a BA degree 135 cities reporting, Salem 121; five years college training, 112 reporting, Salem 92; and teachers with a MA degree, 135 reporting, Salem 106.

Supt. Smith pointed out that recently the Salem school system lost two good teachers to neighboring schools whose salary schedule provided them with a difference of from $700 to $1,100.

In his recommendation, the superintendent made it clear that even though Salem's beginning salaries are low, its teacher salary cost is relatively high because the average tenure of the teaching staff is better than 19 years.

"Better than 51 per cent of our teachers are on tenure and maximum salary," he said, "and this coupled with the fact that our average training of teachers is less than 4 years indicates we need to attract younger degreed people to help offset the great number at the top of our schedule."

"This cannot be done unless our beginning salary places us in a more favorable competitive position for teachers on a state-wide basis," he said.

Over-All Cost Would Be $51,000 By 1962

The approved recommendation states that no increase can be greater than $300 in one school year. This would place all teachers on this schedule in September, 1962.

The cost of salary increase would be $22,000 for the four school months at the close of this year and $51,000 in 1962.

To assure the maintenance of, and the improvement of the quality educational program to which Salem people have become accustomed, an additional 1 mill was added to make the total renewal 4 mills, or a decrease of ½ mill under the emergency 4½-mill levy operated under in 1960.

In support of the additional mill, which will go mainly for the teacher salary increases, Supt. Smith pointed out again his statements on teachers' salaries presented at last month's board meeting.

The board received a letter from the Salem League of Women Voters which seemed to be timed with the passage of the 4-mill levy renewal and teacher salary increase recommendation.

The letter revealed that the League has been engaged in a detailed survey of the Salem school system. For purposes of comparison, the League, in its survey, selected 22 Ohio cities of comparable size in school population, and discovered that in 1959 only three of the school systems spent more per pupil than Salem's $355.86.

The letter went on to say that "the professional training of the average Salem teacher is very low at 3.89 years, and only two of the 22 school districts had teachers with less. Our average teacher has 19.38 years experience—the highest—which makes our salary schedule very expensive. The fact remains our teachers are most inadequately paid."

League's Recommendations
Because of the facts brought out in the survey, the League suggested three proposals to the board. They were:

"I-Ask that the board give a full public explanation of exactly what it plans to do with approximately

Year-Around School Use Is Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—School would be a year-around proposition, although not for all pupils, under a measure reported out Monday night by the Ohio House Education Committee.

The bill was reported out by a 12-6 vote despite a plea by T. G. O'Keefe of the Ohio Education Association, which claims to speak for many of the state's classroom teachers, that the state education department make a study of the matter between now and the 1963 legislature.

Behind the bill, backers said, is the idea that existing school facilities can be used to a much fuller extent, and to handle larger enrollments, by operating through the summer.

School boards would be authorized to set up three 80-day semesters, with pupils to be scheduled to attend two of the three. To offset a reduction from 176 to 160 days in the school year, the school day would be increased a half-hour.

First hearing was given in the Senate Judiciary Committee to two bills designed to replace a measure proposing community colleges which was killed by that committee. They provide for expansion of state-supported higher education facilities through the branches of present state campuses or locally-backed technical institutes.

Several police officers were among witnesses before a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, which is studying bills dealing with increased penalties for horse race bookmaking, numbers policy, organized sports betting and other rackets.

Compromise May Void Hike In Auto License Plates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A compromise, sparing Ohio motorists a possible increase in cost of license plates and the state highway director a $15 million decrease in operating funds, appears to be in the making.

The whole situation revolves around the money the state gets from the automobile plates. At present, all but about $15 million annually goes to counties, municipalities and townships for street and road improvements.

The remaining $15 million or so is used to run the Ohio Department of Highway Safety. But the House passed a bill giving this $15 million to the local governments also, and providing that gasoline tax money should be used to run the Highway Safety Department. The bill went to a committee of the Senate.

That meant that the Department of Highways, which gets the state gas tax money, was threatened with having to get along with $15 million less a year. There were charged and countercharges, including some what Highway Department officials were lobbying in favor of a bill to increase the fee charged for car license plates (to provide the additional money for localities that way) and save the $15 million gas tax money for the department's use.

It appeared, however, that the Senate committee would let the House-approved bill (to give local governments the additional $15 million) emerge virtually unscathed and ready for Senate floor action.

But there are indications now that a compromise can be worked out which will call for dropping efforts to increase the license plate fees, still give the localities the additional $15 million, but spare the Highway Department the loss in gas tax revenues by paying the Highway Safety Department's costs in another way.

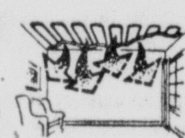

This other way, it was indicated, would be through driver license fees and fines—an estimated $4.4 million annually—some existing Utilities Commission fees on motor carriers, and about $10 million from the general fund.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Doctors Yearn for Leukemia Cure

A "heartsick mother" whose first-born son recently died of leukemia, writes a highly critical letter in which she condemns the government for closing the Hoxsey Cancer Clinics and takes me to task for approving that action.

Quite understandably, she bases her complaint on an accompanying letter from a neighbor who attests that he had leukemia five years ago, attended the clinic, took the "cure" and today is "hale and hearty."

Since the argument that the bereaved mother makes in good faith is the argument used by those who exploit the public trust in not such good faith, I would like to respond at some length.

THERE ARE TWO possible explanations of the neighbor's "cure" other than the effects of the treatment he received.

The first is the distinct possibility that he did not, as I hope, have leukemia to begin with. As I have pointed out on previous occasions, the benign infection we call acute mononucleosis — the "kissing disease" — may mimic the malignant condition of leukemia so faithfully that it takes a blood specialist to make a positive distinction in the early stages of the disease.

If the good neighbor who attests to the "cure" is actually "hale and hearty" today, it may well be that he was "cured" of a mistake in diagnosis, that his good fortune was based, not on the treatment he received but on the natural course of the infection that, almost without exception, progresses to full and complete recovery.

THE SECOND explanation has to do with the varieties of leukemia and the differing courses they pursue. For example, the acute leukemia of infancy and childhood is a remorseless disease that runs a rapid downhill course within the matter of a few months. To be sure, the course occasionally is interrupted by periods of remission, often induced by treatment heroically given. But these remissions are of brief duration. They cannot be sustained. At most, the life of the child is prolonged for a few heart-breaking months.

Now the acute leukemia of these youngsters also may occur in the adult. But, more frequently, adult leukemia is a chronic condition of amazingly long duration. While reliable mass statistics indicate that the survival time in the chronic leukemias of adults is slightly less than four years, every seasoned practitioner has in his office population middle-aged and elderly patients who have had the condition for 10 or more years.

Indeed, my experiences include several who lived their lives without significant distress from the blood condition and who died of diseases unrelated to leukemia. Had these individuals been exposed to any type of "cancer cure," I am sure that they, too, would have willingly attested to the virtues of the treatment they received.

I TRUST THE writers of these letters will believe me when I say that no one would welcome a leukemia "cure" more than those of us who keep the vigil with the grieving parents of a child afflicted with leukemia.

The actions taken against the Hoxsey clinic were not those of "blundering government officials" or of the "medical trust," as has been implied. They were those of informed physicians, taken in the public interest.

We're All Ears, Mr. Preston

We don't know what will impress State Highway Director Everett S. Preston the most when he meets Wednesday with local and county officials on the planning for the relocation of U. S. Route 62, but he's bound to recognize the fact that we are genuinely sincere in our demand that "62" be kept inside the Columbiana County boundaries.

Preston and his top aides from Columbus will be luncheon guests of the Salem Area Chamber of Commerce at a meeting to be held in St. George's parish hall in Lisbon. Mayors from all of the political subdivisions, as well as county and township officials, will attend.

RESOLUTIONS signed and endorsed by organizations throughout the county will be presented to Mr. Preston and the Chamber of Commerce's hard-working highways committee will spell out — reason for reason — why Route 62 should be kept inside Columbiana County when the time comes to relocate it.

The first step in the relocation of Route 62 is a six-mile, divided two-lane highway between Canton and Route 44. From this point eastward the highway will veer to the north but just how far to the north is the big question mark. A wide swing would take 62 north of Alliance and possibly on toward Youngstown. Professional engineers have recommended to the state that the road cross Alliance to the north, although an alternate path would keep Route 62 just south of Salem and in Columbiana County.

AN IRREPARABLE BLOW would be dealt Columbiana County if we were to lose Route 62. It is one of our few major highways, serving not only Salem but many communities around us. Heavy vehicular traffic in the district demands a major highway such as Route 62.

It isn't as if Salem has done nothing to help facilitate highway improvements in this immediate district. The city has spent thousands of dollars in having necessary arterial highway surveys and comprehensive plans completed, as recommended by the State Highway Department.

Copies of these reports are on file here and with the state, as recommended, so that state planning could dovetail.

WE HAVE DONE OUR PART and we can't help but feel that Columbiana County, perhaps a geographical "lost cousin" to the state, has been short-changed for many years in the matter of highway improvements.

Millions of dollars have been spent in road improvements in various parts of Ohio with both state and federal monies that we helped to produce through taxes. It's high time that we were given some deserved recognition and we hope that Highway Director Preston will do that tomorrow — in both words and deeds.

Red China Spells It Out

When the Communist Chinese warned in 1950 that invasion of North Korea and the United Nations advance to the Yalu River would bring Chinese troops into the Korean War, no one paid close attention. Historically, there is no reason to believe the United States, which had the most to lose, paid any attention at all.

This time it's different.

A Communist Chinese warning that invasion of Laos by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization — SEATO — would bring Chinese troops into the strife between Communist-inclined forces and non-Communist forces will be given the closest attention. The Chinese People's Republic has left no room for doubt about its ability or willingness to fight.

Everything is in its favor.

It has manpower in abundance. Its soldiers would have no objection to fighting in Laos; it is in their back yard, so to speak.

Being ignorant, they would pose no problem of morale. They would not need to have spelled out for them an issue that has not lent itself to spelling out to anyone who is trying to comprehend it.

Price of Progress

The demolition of Goshen Center's "little red schoolhouse" probably will bring nostalgic tinges of remorse from oldsters, but not to the youngsters who eventually will be housed in a new structure connecting to the more modern school at East Goshen, which must be enlarged.

There always will be a page in American history for the one-room school houses which dotted the countryside before they had to give way as district consolidations made it possible to erect facilities comparable, and sometimes better, than those offered in the cities.

Some of the former one-room schools in the district have been converted into residences but the red brick structure on Route 165 was the last in actual use in Mahoning County. Its destruction is part of the price that must be paid to make the rapidly-expanding West Branch School District one of the finest in the state.

Once Over

Many railroads are interested in ICC ruling that bankruptcy is no way out and that there is nothing the matter with the New Haven Railroad that passengers, governmental help and at least an even break with airlines, trucks, buses, trailers and other competitors won't cure.

Many railroads have been sideswiped so hard by competitors that there are cauliflower ears on locomotives.

Even the baggage car and caboose are punch drunk. Cowcatchers could be taken off and replaced by tin cups. People used to thrill to the whistle of locomotive across hills in night, bringing dreams of travel and fun.

Now the Diesel engine siren is a call for help, bringing nightmares about bad service, battered upholstery, broken parlor-car windows, railroad tieups and trouble getting a phone answer from information desk. When you heard a train roaring into the vicinity, you once thought of the Flying Carpet of Baghdad. Today the roar is a half hour late and you link it into a sad tale of financial troubles, broken axles, wrong switches and late arrivals.

George Alpert, head of the New Haven Railroad, is a good lawyer but a brief case is no symbol of perfect railroad operation.

Most American railroads are in trouble and there are numerous cases where the great need is for an old-fashioned experienced railroad man. If he has a touch of genius and is fairly good as a magician it will help.

MANY MEMBERS of the United Nations are refusing to pay dues or even chip in a couple of dollars to keep peace in the Congo. This is like being in a straw hut surrounded by forest fires and refusing to support firemen, water supply department and extension ladder industry. Fancy members of the world's one agency for peace saying it is warlike to pick up a part of the check for expenses of peace!

The U.S. Navy is studying dolphins to find out what they have that people haven't got. Experiments show they have sonar-sounding systems better than anything developed by man. (Why not? They have little else to do.) They are air breathers but can stay underwater 1,000 feet down and zoom to the surface without cramps or "the bends." Brain is almost twice as big as human's. In addition to all this they all get long-run engagements in Florida marine exhibits. (Oh, to be dolphin, now that man has so much trouble!)

We hear that some mediation conferences in the Bronx Zoo strike were so wild they could have been held on trapeze in the cages.

Chairman Khrushchev's distaste for capitalism never did discourage him from trying to pick up some rubles on our capitalist tastes. For years now he has been strangely obsessed — despite all his other drives — with a personal campaign to force the U.S. to lift

Victor Riesel a ban on Soviet king crabmeat and lush ermine and mink from the Leningrad fur market.

Perhaps this obsession is not so strange — for it was on Jan. 27, 1951, that our government ruled we would not permit these imports because they were processed or produced by slave labor.

The Treasury Department ruled that Communist crabmeat and furs were slave camp products. This decision came after a two-year fight and exposures by this column. Now, 10 years later, our government has decided to admit Red crabmeat in cans.

THE RUSSIANS cannot take our action, if they permit me a dialectic, to mean that either the Kennedy administration or we the people of the U.S. have ruled there no longer is slave labor in the U.S.S.R. Quite to the contrary.

The crabmeat ruling only con-

Why Be Half Nuts?

By TRUMAN TWILL

Who could fail to be impressed by the statement that Washington, D. C., has more psychiatrists per square foot than any city in the United States?

It figures. A layman takes his life in his hands when he writes about head-shrinking, but even a layman is safe in saying Washington is the logical place to carry on the dark art.

Denizens of the capital must try to be rational not only about themselves but about their associates in the government and their constituents back home. It stands to reason that everybody who works in government must be nuts.

Nothing about the idea of government the way it's carried on in the United States makes sense. If it didn't work so well — all things considered — representative democracy wouldn't have any excuse for existence.

And do you want to know why it works so well, all things considered? Because it doesn't make sense. That simple.

In other governments, everything makes sense. No time is wasted on nonsense. People who try to get a hearing for ideas that are nonsensical are shushed up and if they don't shush they get shot.

All decisions are fact and logic. There is a reason for everything. Everything is in line with the main purpose of whatever is afoot. No one ever chases rainbows or gets fouled up in ideology.

There is only one truthful point of view and everybody is expected to stick with it.

Nothing baffles absolutists who stride to power elsewhere on the bent necks of the masses like seeing the existence of slave labor camps — on the land, if not on the sea in floating crab canneries. Tell you why?

The State Department has just told inquirers that it has no intention of asking the White House to lift the ban on Soviet furs. This means that our official position is that the $500 million Soviet fur trade still is based on slave labor in northern Soviet slave prison camps.

For 10 years now, as a result of this column's drive, the U.S. has embargoed seven types of Russian furs: mink, ermine, fox, kolinsky, marten, muskrat and weasel, both furs and skins, as they say in the trade.

Lifting of this embargo would bring the Soviet treasury hundreds of millions of hard American dollars for foreign exchange.

What has irritated Chairman Khrushchev — to the point where he discussed the matter with Dwight Eisenhower at Camp David — is not the money but the principle. He does not want the slave labor label on his goods.

BECAUSE of the continued ban on his furs, the Soviet leader gets no satisfaction, either financial or political. At most, our imports of foreign crabmeat come to just about $8 million. Most of this gourmet's delight comes from Japan now.

The Russians will not be able to cut deeply into this trade, even ing a gaggle of Americans sticking their necks out willy-nilly over differences of opinion.

Why Be Half Nuts?

To a political absolutist this is insanity. How can a government expect to keep itself together if everybody and his brother pop off?

Anyway, how can the truth of anything be found if people who have no qualification shoot off their mouths?

Adolf Hitler was the sanest man in Germany when he was responsible for slaughtering people; no one would have dared to question his sanity. He is said to have fallen into fits and chewed rugs, but no psychiatrist would have lived to tell about it if he had tried to figure out the fuhrer.

Joe Stalin decided who was nuts and who was sane in Russia, and he had the nutty ones drilled methodically in a basement with revolver shots at the base of the skull.

Benito Mussolini in Italy was the quintessence of sanity. He made the trains run on time, which made a lot of sense to a type of American popular in those days whose hero would have been someone like Benito over here, wrapped up in an American flag and singing "Yankee Doodle."

The way these boys saw it and the way their spiritual heirs see it, it's crazy, the way we run a country with differences of opinion. Even some Americans who believe in differences of opinion get hot under the collar and scream that it's a "heluva way to run a railroad."

Yup. It sure is. That's why they need so many psychiatrists in Washington. Everybody there's a little bit nutty and the worst ones are fruit cakes.

E-E-Easy-Does-It, Now . . .

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

if their cheap labor costs are lower than those of the Japanese. Why?

I got the answer to this along the New York waterfront the other day. Leaders and members of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (AFL-CIO) were getting their boycott dander up.

They have been refusing to handle Cuban imports. Now they plan to refuse to unload Soviet canned crabmeat when it begins arriving in the big New York port of entry.

If the Russian shippers switch to other ports, the boycott will follow them as it did the Cuban fruits, tobacco and molasses. This is the technique the Longshoremen pulled on Soviet furs 10 years ago until the government banned the imports officially.

EAST COAST Longshoremen's union chiefs know well that President Kennedy and members of his Cabinet have told other labor leaders to run their unions and leave American foreign policy to the White House and State Department.

This is what Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges told Frank Darling, whose Chicago Electrical Workers' Union planned to boycott Japanese electronic products.

This is what Labor Secretary Goldberg observed on the threatened boycott of Japanese cloth. But the Longshoremen do not feel bound by this friendly chiding.

The Russians are not our comrades in arms. Furthermore, waterfront boycotts were started long ago — especially in French and Italian ports — by Communist longshoremen unions.

American rank and file action will not and should not embarrass either John Kennedy or Dean Rusk. They made the official friendly gesture. Our Longshoremen just don't think they want to help the Russians make a ruble at the expense of American and Japanese men who go down to the sea to earn their living as free men.

SIDE GLANCES

Summitry Delusion

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Little Accomplished by 'Big 2' Talks

The big illusion lingers on. Two world leaders — President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan — now have held their "summit" meeting and have issued a state m e n t phrased in cautious generalities. The purpose is to give the impression that something substantial is being accomplished to forward the cause of peace. Realism negates such an impression.

David Lawrence

Peace doesn't depend on what the United States and Great Britain may wishfully say about it. Peace today depends upon mobilizing adequate forces to check the palpable effort of the Communist regime in Moscow to dominate the world either by threat and a peaceful takeover or by military action in enough local areas to bring about submission by the West.

The big unanswered question is what the West will do about it. What hovers over every "summit" meeting is the stark fact that the West doesn't want to fight a war and conveys the idea it will make almost any concession to avert one.

The West is a loose alliance with each nation paying lip service to unity but going its own way just the same.

A dictatorship has only one thing to think about — its own force. Its allies are so dependent upon the power of the dictator's military machine that they must go along with him.

Democratic governments have no such power over each other. Hence irresolution is manifest and this gives the dictator — a Hitler or a Khrushchev — the feeling that conquest can be achieved by bluff. Eventually comes the disillusionment, as the other side finally determines to fight. Then it is too late to avert a war.

What's happened recently to the West? Despite the Macmillan-Kennedy pronouncements, the truth is the West is weaker than it was a year ago.

Due to the stagnation of Allied policy because of the American election campaign, the Soviets have had several months to entrench themselves further and to carry on their intensive infiltration in different parts of the world. The West as yet has furnished no answer to this.

SEVERAL NATIONS that should be allied with the West are tolerantly referred to as "neutralist" or "uncommitted" when the truth is a life-and-death struggle is going on that makes it dangerous to permit any power to remain aloof and play one side against the other for material advantage.

Khrushchev smiles with satisfaction as he reads that in America there is ridicule in high places now for the Dulles truism — "If you're not for us, you are against us."

Meanwhile, all over the West the Communists are getting the benefit of the pressure for a nuclear-test ban or for disarmament.

The pacifists, the gullible and the ill-informed among us are crusading on a platform that might realistically be described as "disarm the West but not Russia — or stop America and the West from using nuclear bombs but let Russia keep on arming with nuclear weapons."

Nobody, of course, in any responsible position of leadership in the West agrees with the doctrines of those who want a disarmament agreement in which Russia can cheat but there are many factions inside Britain and the United States who feel that any nuclear-ban agreement is better than none.

The whole emphasis is on weakening the West, though few participants in the crusade are aware that this is so. Still demonstration after demonstration occurs in this country and Europe calling for an end to nuclear tests while nothing like this is happening inside the Soviet Union.

IN FACT, even if there were an agreement to ban nuclear tests, it wouldn't mean that the use of nuclear weapons would be banned or that the nuclear stockpile would be affected.

All that would happen is that the West would have to stop experimenting to perfect the necessary weapons to meet the Soviet threat. The Communists, of course, who know no such thing as moral law, would violate any agreement they made.

The circumstances, moreover, that developed in the '30s are recurring. Democracy's leaders meet and express pious hopes but nothing is done to emphasize bluntly that the West really will make every sacrifice to preserve its freedom.

If the Soviets would give evidence of good faith by withdrawing their stooges, agents and infiltrators from all parts of the world, there might be a good chance to avert a war.

No such demand came from the Macmillan - Kennedy conference. Hence, the odds favor war as long as the Communists insist on stirring up military actions in the Congo and in Laos, while giving momentum to revolutions and terrorism in Algeria and engaging in outright invasion of a neighbor's territory, as in India and Tibet.

THE DANGER of another world war is also increased by the bold policies of the Communists in Cuba and Latin America.

While a counter - revolution is brewing in Cuba, it is an open question how much the munitions and military advisers furnished by the Soviet Union will complicate the anti-Castro revolution and perhaps frustrate it.

How long can the United States, Britain and France maintain their respective policies of giving more economic assistance to neutralists?

How long will the West see the United Nations dominated by the votes of the small countries?

How long can treason against the U.N. in the Congo by the Soviets be tolerated? Similar acts of treason occurred when the Soviets intervened against the U.N. forces in Korea.

As long as the Moscow government feels that the West is timid and irresolute, the world will face a growing danger of war. Nothing in the Macmillan-Kennedy statement served the purpose of warning Khrushchev as to what must be required of him and his cohorts to remove the danger of war.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: When I read your recent plug for late motherhood my ulcer began acting up for the first time in months.

I was a "late dividend" as you called it and let me tell you how it looks from here. We invariably lose our fathers before we enter high school. They die of old age. We are then left with a neurotic mother who lavishes all her devotion on "her baby."

We never know a grandparent because they all die long before we are born. Our widowed mother does not associate with the mothers of our friends because there is a generation between them.

If we should want to marry (provided we are not too emotionally crippled for such a mature venture) we are too guilt-ridden to leave Mama alone, so we move in with her or ask her to move in with us. This is catastrophic, as your column often points out.

Please, Ann, advocate motherhood in its natural period. God knew what He was doing when He planned it that way.—O.W.K.

Dear O.W.K.: Wouldn't you rather be born late than never?

Unusual Chore

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Maynard Amerine, a distinguished scholar with sherry-colored hair and Madeira-colored eyes, has an unusual academic chore.

Each year he must taste test some 1,500 different lots of wine. "But in the daytime—from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.—I never swallow any," he said.

The testing is one of the duties that falls to Amerine as director of the University of California's Department of Oenology, or wine making.

The department operates its own winery and 150 acres of vineyards stocked with more than 1,000 varieties of grapes. It also is pioneering in the development of automatic grape harvesting.

Its 50 students come from all parts of the world, including such famed wine centers as France, Germany and Portugal.

At the end of the year Amerine, who can easily identify 100 kinds of wine, expects his senior students to be able to classify by taste, color and aroma at least 25 of the popular wines.

The students don't get to drink the wine. They merely sit in cubicles and sniff and taste the samples—then expectorate them, as does a professional tester.

A course in wine making might sound like a collegiate boondoggle to the uninitiated. It isn't.

"We don't have the problem of the smart alec student looking for a snap subject. Before enrolling our students have to have 16 units of chemistry, 8 units of physics and 9 units of math, including calculus," Amerine said.

"The requirements are so stiff they eliminate all except the serious students, those really interested in finding a career in the wine industry."

The department spends nearly a million dollars a year in teaching and research. It is currently conducting perhaps the most active grape breeding project in the world.

To Amerine, oenology is more than a mere academic pursuit. To him the lore of wine is full of both poetry and romance.

"A good wine must have a come-hither quality—something to stimulate the imagination."

"A memorable woman or a memorable wine must have a special individual quality—if either is too transparent, how can either be really interesting?"

Report Is Issued On Court Activities

Columbiana County's three county courts, Salem, Lisbon and East Palestine, handled a total of 218 criminal cases and 91 civil cases in March, according to a report of Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey.

Forty-five per cent of state highway patrol fines, $1,641 along with $790 of costs went into the county treasury.

The state received $1,176 as its share of the state patrol fines. Costs in civil cases, amounting to $443, also were turned over to the county treasurer. Sheriff, constable and city police fees paid out totaled $440.82, Stacey said.

Baffled Nurse

Dear Ann: I'm a nurse who always has been able to cope with patient problems but this one has me baffled.

My patient is a woman 30 years old. Her parents are no longer living and she has considerable inherited wealth. I'm aware she's slightly off her rocker but it is my professional responsibility to take care of her physical needs.

Four years ago she declared herself officially engaged to a Hollywood star. She bought herself an expensive diamond ring and told everyone it was from him. When his movies appear in the local movie house she parks herself down there from early afternoon till the last show.

She used to write him mushy letters but lately the letters have become obscene. I'm sure the letters get only as far as his secretary but I feel guilty standing by and permitting her to mail such trash. There's nothing I can do as she insists on reading the letters to me and dropping them into the box herself.

What do you suggest?—WHITE CAP.

Dear White Cap: All public figures get some trashy mail and you can be sure that it hits the waste basket the moment a hint of obscenity becomes apparent.

If you want to help this woman, please tell her physician about her irrational behavior. She needs a head doctor to improve her mental health as well as a nurse to care for her physical needs.

Hen Session

Dear Ann: Several of us girls (all 16 and 17) were having a hen session. Some of the girls think it is all right to walk arm in arm down the street or in the halls at school with a boy friend if you are in love. Also they said a little quiet kissing in the movies (not necking) is okay.

I think this looks cheap. I was called square and they said I'd probably feel different if I had a steady fellow (which I don't).

What do you think about this?—ALL ALONE.

Dear All: Couples who hang on to one another, kiss in movies (if THIS isn't necking, what is?) and give other public demonstrations of affection don't prove they're in love, they prove only that they have no manners.

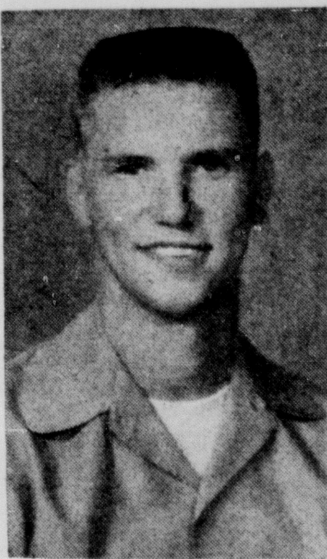

If a boy has genuine respect for a girl he'll keep his hands off her in public. If she has any respect for herself she'll insist on it.

Confidentially

TO REDDY TEDDY: I hope you are "reddy" for plenty of trouble. The girl is under age and her father can do plenty.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

imately $155,000, the amount the proposed 4-mill levy would yield.

"2-Ask that a major portion of proceeds of the proposed levy be used to increase teachers salaries as rapidly as possible to scale comparable to those of nearby Canfield, Austintown and Boardman."

"3-Recommend that the board employ an expert on school administration to analyze the cost of our school system and solve the puzzle of why one of the top operating rates produces salaries that are an insult to our present teachers and an affront to first class teachers we should be employing."

Mrs. Ewing Farrington, president of the League of Women Voters, and several other members of the local group attended last night's session to see what action would be taken on the letter. Mrs. Farrington said she wanted to see what the board was going to do about the low teacher salary problem and why the school system was continually operating at a deficit. She said she just wanted to know, "Are we getting the right education for the taxes we are paying?"

Walter B. Null, president of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. George Bunn, a Chamber member, were also at the meeting to have questions answered for the Chamber in reference to the increased spending at a continued deficit and to the continued educational standards now present in the school system.

Null asked the board "Are we going to add to the millage each year, and when will it level off?"

Fears Tax Opposition

He said the legislative committee of the Chamber would wholeheartedly support the 4-mill levy, but he felt it would meet with opposition due to the present city income tax and the recession. He then asked Supt. Smith what would happen if the levy were defeated.

Supt. Smith said that "if the levy does not pass the school system will begin to go backwards and backwards in standards and it would be possible to have to close the schools if funds to operate were inadequate."

"All money of late has been spent in the academic category. We are now pooling secretaries, the maintenance program is suffering, and the stadium needs repair, but money for these is being used to keep the academic program on a high level," he said. "We have cut maintenance to the limit so that if a boiler in one of the school buildings broke down we would have to close the school."

He went on to say that "the people of Salem can have the education they want if they are willing to pay for it." "If the present levy is passed, we will not be working at a deficit at the end of the year," he concluded.

IN OTHER ACTION at last night's session, the board approved the borrowing of up to $120,000 in bank loans by Board Clerk Wallace King to meet the April payroll and to pay outstanding bills. The clerk said monies from taxes on real estate should arrive later this month from the county. This should amount to about $250,000 and erase the present deficit, he said.

The monthly financial report showed the school system with $8,816.73 in the bank and in funds; with $162,000 in outstanding bank loans, and $26,500.58 in unpaid bills.

In his report to the board, Supt. Smith presented an extensive report on activities at the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators, which he and Assistant Supt. D. M. Fadely attended in Philadelphia March 25-28.

He also outlined a proposed 9th grade world history course for college-bound pupils to be added to the local curriculum.

Supt. Smith announced that 17 teacher replacements would be needed next year, which include four retirements, five resignations, five new positions, and three leaves of absence.

that the residents of Algeria can sincerely choose their future."

De Gaulle has promised that after peace has returned to Algeria the 10 million Moslem and one million European residents of Algeria will be able to have a free vote on their future regime.

DeGaulle's news conference statement also constitutes his first public statement of policy since the nationwide referendum in January endorsed his Algerian policy.

Hopes for peace in Algeria blossomed when FLN officials announced March 17 that they accepted the French offer, made two days earlier, for peace talks. Negotiations were scheduled for April 7, in Evian-les-Bains, France, but the FLN on April 1 refused to attend the talks because France insisted on giving equal consideration to the rival rebel group, the National Algerian Movement (MNA).

French extremists, opposing De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria, meanwhile began widespread terror bombings in France and Algeria. The mayor of Evian-les-Bains was killed in one such attack.

Chicago Nips Washington in Major League Opener

All Other Teams Get Rolling Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Chicago White Sox now have seen Dick Donovan in enemy costume, and what they've seen they haven't liked.

Donovan, shuffled off from Chicago in the American League's expansion draft, was the losing pitcher as his Washington Senators dropped a 4-3 opening game to the White Sox Monday.

But it was no fault of Donovan's

Touch Grid Star Muffs Baseball Trial

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy—better known in sports circles as a touch football player—opened the 1961 baseball season with a high, hard peg that caught the pros off base.

As ceremonial throws go, it was a beauty.

At these opening day affairs, the players have more respect for the presidential office than the presidential arm, and they creep toward the official box as if they were expecting a bunt.

President Kennedy crossed them up Monday. Like a catcher trying to catch a runner at second, Kennedy snapped a throw. It bounced off the hands of two players and was grabbed by Jim Rivera of the Chicago White Sox who was backing the play.

The President's second toss—for the benefit of the cameramen—also was muffed. Hal Woodeshick, Washington pitcher, recovered the ball in the manner of a football player smothering a fumble.

It was topcoat weather and the outfield was wet from a heavy overnight rain, but the President seemed to enjoy himself.

He had a laugh when the field announcer introduced the home team as "the New Frontier Senators." And he was on his feet applauding in the first inning when the Senators' Gene Woodling hit a triple off the scoreboard, driving in two runs.

Thus the administration got the new season under way for the White Sox and the new Washington Senators, the old Senators having moved to a new baseball frontier in Minnesota.

Kennedy, usually late for everything, arrived five minutes early and caught the U.S. Air Force Band by surprise. It stood in silence as Kennedy, almost unnoticed, slipped into his seat without the traditional "Hail to the Chief."

Penn-Ohio Loop Teams to Open Here on May 20

Dave Briskin, president of the Penn-Ohio Softball League, announced today that all six members of the loop will open the season on May 20 with a triple-header here at Kelley Park.

The Salem Merchants will face Youngstown Local 1331 in the opener at 6 p.m.; Cuyahoga Falls McGowan-Reid Cleaners will battle Stepanic's Tavern of Hanover at 7:30; and Warren Laurel Lanes will tangle with Niles Fenton Street Bar at 9.

The Merchants and Stepanic's will use Kelley Park as their home park this season.

that President Kennedy and 26,725 paying patrons attended a defeat in the new Senators' major league debut.

It was rather the fault of extravagant hospitality on the part of Washington's latest American League entry. The Senators committed four errors.

Three — two on one play by first baseman Dale Long — contributed to the unearned runs by which Chicago squared matters in the seventh and clinched the game in the eighth.

Donovan allowed only six hits. The 33-year-old right-hander, who was omitted from Chicago's starting rotation last year, has seldom been more effective.

"If he's going to pitch that way, I wish we had him back," said Sox Manager Al Lopez.

Roy Sievers was Chicago's hero, smashing a home run into the center field bleachers and batting in the winning run with a sacrifice fly to deep center.

Frank Baumann, who followed starter Early Wynn and Russ Kemmerer, received the victory.

Wynn, the well seasoned veteran, lasted only two innings — the innings in which the Senators scored all their runs.

Palmer Blows Masters Title To Player on Last Hole

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Palmer, a spry-like golf Midas from South Africa, today had swelled his 1961 gold strike to $45,000 by becoming the first foreign-born Masters champion since the meet started in 1934.

Whether Player, 25, beat defending champion Arnold Palmer by a stroke, or Palmer beat himself in Monday's closing round at Augusta National was conjectural.

Amateur Charlie Coe also made a hot bid and tied Palmer for second.

Player watched on clubhouse TV, first in agony and then in wife-kissing glee, as Palmer blew the $20,000 top prize and an unprecedented second straight victory with a horrible double bogey 6 on the last hole.

Player finished 30 minutes ahead of Palmer with a closing 34-40—74 for an 8-under-par 280. That was when Palmer seemed roaring to one of his patented explosive finishes — as last year when he closed birdie-birdie to capture his second Masters title with 282.

Palmer seemingly had the tournament sewed up when Player bogeyed the 69th hole to fall one stroke behind the defending champion, who then was 9-under par through the 67th.

But Palmer—after an opening nine of 34 and eight straight pars, hit his Waterloo at the 18th. His second shot was trapped. His burial shot came with a 7-iron which went over the green. Palmer's fourth shot went 15 feet past the pin. He missed the long putt back.

Palmer naturally was unhappy after his sad finish.

"I thought it only happened to other people," he said after his tragic double-bogey on the 72nd hole.

"I never felt I was going to do anything else other than win the tournament," Palmer continued. "I played the back nine too fast. Once ahead, I kinda forgot there's more to it than getting ahead. You've got to finish on top."

Coe, 38, an oil broker who won the U.S. Amateur in 1949 and 1958, very nearly became the first amateur to win the Masters. He had the two best closing rounds, 69-69, and missed an eagle putt on the 69th hole by inches.

"I played the best golf of my career," said Coe. "I'm simply surprised that I closed as well as I did."

Palmer collected $12,000 for his second-place finish, keeping him second behind Player in the 1961 money-winning race at $34,792.

Tied at fourth with $7,000 each were Tommy Bolt, who had the best final round score of 68, and Don January at 285.

Paul Harney took sixth prize money of $4,800 with 286. Amateur Jack Nicklaus and pros Bill Collins, Jack Burke and Bill Casper were knotted at 287.

McKinley, Prospect Get Trophies

Grade School Cagers Feted by Elks Club

The Salem Elks honored the Mickey McGuire League grade school basketball players with a roast beef dinner last evening at the Elks Home on E. State St.

More than 125 players, coaches, league officials and guests attended the banquet. This was the 10th year that the Elks have honored the grade school cagers with a dinner.

Salem High varsity cagers Bob Eskay and Don Davidson were the speakers. Davidson presented trophies, sponsored by the high school Varsity "S" Club, to McKinley, which won the first round title and tied for the second half crown, and to Prospect, which tied for the second half title.

Grade school students taking part in the program included Jack Bloomberg of Reilly, George Christofaris of Fourth St., Eric Reed of McKinley, John Tolson of St. Paul and Charles Montgomery of Prospect.

Mr. Robert Miller, physical education director at the high school, was in charge of the Mickey McGuire League program this season. Clifford Anderson served as a league official; James Foreman was scorekeeper and Jerry Menichelli, timekeeper.

850 In Big Ten Football Drills

Workouts Limited To 20 Sessions

By The Associated Press

Big Ten spring football drills were bustin' out all over today with nearly 850 hopefuls in action. In this group were about 225 lettermen, who, with a bristling pack of sophomores - to - be, will form the backbone of another high powered conference campaign this fall.

Drills are just starting for Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan and Michigan State, Illinois, Northwestern, Ohio State, Minnesota, Purdue and Indiana opened last week.

NCAA regulations limit spring workouts to 20 sessions. Most coaches talked in terms of rebuilding. Here are some of the problems they face:

IOWA — Developing a right guard, finding a fullback, filling left tackle, building a passing game.

WISCONSIN — Rebuilding right side of line.

INDIANA — Finding and developing a take-charge quarterback who can move the team.

OHIO STATE — Filling holes at quarterback and tackle-guard posts.

MICHIGAN STATE — Finding a quarterback.

MICHIGAN — Rebuilding nearly the entire interior line.

PURDUE — Replacing three key linemen and rebuilding virtually the entire backfield.

MINNESOTA — No lettermen centers or right guards returning from 1960's national champions.

NORTHWESTERN — Replacing starters at quarterback, fullback and ends.

ILLINOIS — Only two regulars return.

But Don't Discount Indians

Dykes Sees Yanks As Team To Beat

DETROIT (AP)—Before Cleveland opened its 1961 season against the Tigers here today, Manager Jimmie Dykes was asked if he thinks the Indians have a real chance to win the American League pennant.

"I sure do," Dykes snapped. "Nobody's going to overpower this league. We sure do have a chance. I like this ball club."

But Dykes still believes the defending champion New York Yankees are the team to beat despite their poor spring exhibition record.

"When you have a team of veterans like the Yankees have, those spring games don't mean a thing," Dykes continued between puffs on his cigar. "The champs are the guys you have to figure on beating."

The White Sox have good balance and Baltimore should have terrific pitching. Those Orioles should have the best pitching of anybody—if last year meant anything."

He is pleased with his own pitching staff, especially the starters, Dykes said. He added that he also expects the bullpen to become solid.

To a query whether Gary Bell has recovered from the shoulder miseries of last season, Dykes replied:

"He's got the old zip back on his fast ball. He will be all right. In fact, I'm planning to pitch him Thursday."

Jim Perry, Cleveland's 24-year-old starter, said he had been nervous for the past few days.

"A couple of butterflies started flitting around my stomach a few days ago when I got the official word about starting," Perry said Monday night. "It made me remember my only other opening day assignment."

SHS Basketball Receipts Climb

Salem High's total receipts for the 1960-61 basketball season amounted to $18,513.42, according to Treasurer Fred B. Burchfield's report, released Monday by the Board of Education.

This is an increase of $2,278.37 over the previous year's total basketball receipts.

The basketball program at the high school shows a balance of $8,019.08 as of March 31, 1961. This is down from last year's balance of $9,395.17, reported as of April 30, 1960.

BASKETBALL EXPENSES this season amounted to $10,413.25, leaving a 1960-61 surplus of $8,100.17. This left a total balance and surplus of $17,495.34. However, $9,476.26 went for payments other than basketball operational expenses, leaving the March 31 balance at the $8,019.08 figure.

Payments for other than operational expenses included $2,254.33 for limestone and grading of high school driveway; $1,390.64 for reducing the track deficit; $457.08 to eliminate a Quaker Annual deficit; $374.21 to eliminate a Quaker Bi-Weekly deficit; and $5,000 to purchase a certificate of deposit.

The largest operational expenses were $2,950.07 in guarantees to visiting schools; $1,003.20 for police and ticket service; and $932.72 for new equipment.

RECEIPTS INCLUDED $8,196.50 from season ticket sales to adults and $462 in grade school and junior high season ticket sales.

Gate receipts showed the following income: preview, $625.50; Columbus East, $506.80; Girard, $243.40; Cleveland West, $434.75; Akron North, $528.90; Toledo Scott, $587.05; Ravenna, $514.95; Youngstown Raven, $254.80; Niles, $371.65; Wellsville, $476.50; Akron South, $693.10; Youngstown South, $299.45; Boardman, $397.50; Youngstown East, $238.60; and Dayton Roosevelt, $710.65.

Righthanders Set For Tribe-Tiger Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' American League baseball opener against the Cleveland Indians today shaped up as a duel of right-handers—led off by Gov. John B. Swainson.

Rookie Swainson, a Democratic first-term, was on call to toss out the first ball in newly-renamed Tiger Stadium (nee Navin Field, later Briggs Stadium) before an anticipated crowd of 35,000 to 40,000 fans.

The Tigers' pitcher Jim Bunning was chosen to face fellow right-hander Jim Perry of the Indians in the serious business of the game. Starting time was 1:30 p.m. EST.

The weatherman, who led up to the opener with some mighty chilly days, promised warmer conditions in the high 40s with at least a little sunshine.

"We're ready," said new Tiger manager Bob Scheffing. "We don't have an ailing player on the squad."

Farmers Get Advice On Good Pastures

Pastures are improved to obtain higher yield of the desirable pasture grasses and to reduce run-off, it is pointed out by Herman Reuter, Columbiana County soil conservationist.

Permanent pasture is placed on land which, from the standpoint of run-off and soil loss, can not be reseeded periodically.

Permanent pasture is on land which can be managed with regular farm equipment to encourage the desirable grasses or legumes and control any undesirable grass or other plants which might develop.

To improve permanent pasture, other than control undesirable plants, lime will need to be applied according to needs or pH.

IMPROVED PASTURE. This photograph of an ideal birdsfoot trefoil pasture at the Perry Baker farm in Elkrun Township was taken last summer by the Soil Conservation Service.

PH will be determined by soil test. After liming, fertilize as soil test indicates for the needed production and cover.

Maintain pasture by top dressing with lime each 4 or 5 years and fertilize every other year.

Mowing at least twice each year or more often if necessary to control undesirable growth.

Rotation Grazing

Rotation grazing means to graze two or more areas in regular order with proper period of time for recovery between grazing periods.

The objectives of rotation grazing is to (1) sustain a high yield of quality forage, (2) maintain a stand of desirable species, (3) to better utilize pasture resources, (4) protect and improve the productive capacity of the land, and (5) last but not least, reduce soil loss and water run-off.

Rotation grazing is practiced on land which lends itself to periodic improvement. The land must lend itself to moving livestock from one field to another. In case of more growth than the livestock can consume, this type of pasture may be utilized as hay.

After the field has been grazed, the livestock will need to be moved from field to field. Moving livestock with the least amount of disturbance is important.

Adjust the plot and production to fit the size of herd for one to five days of feeding, before moving the cattle to the next plot.

Arrange for sufficient number of plots to allow for crop recovery. Pasture a plot the second time - in bluegras after 4 to 6 inches of growth has been attained - or tall grasses and legumes after 8 to 10 inches of growth.

Mow each plot following grazing to control unpalatable and undesirable growth.

Arrange the rotation grazing to take full advantage of the season's growth of each crop.

Excess growth may be harvested for hay or silage.
